SURPRISING FOR THE DERBY

R. F. CARMAN POINTING GOOD COLT FOR RICH PALMETTO PARK FIXTURE.

Entrance of Carman Three-Year-Old Into List of Probable Starters Increases Interest in Event—Gossip from Charleston Track.

Charleston, S. C., February 8.—Because of surprising success in his last week, when he finished second among a good lot of handicap horses despite the fact that it was his first race in many months, interest in the Palmetto Derby, to be run February 28, has been materially increased and the event is now regarded as an open proposition. Before surprising was brought into training, it was thought by many smart turfmen that W. G. Yankee's old Ben would win the Derby, as he had shown brilliant form in some of his starts here and had also evinced a liking for a route. Surprising appeared a trifle shy in his recent start, but it was evident that R. F. Carman has been preparing him for the Derby and about one more race will put him on edge. Old Ben and Surprising were carded to meet in the race in question, but the Yankee gelding was withdrawn.

The Palmetto Park track became faster last week than at any previous time during the meeting, but as has been the case every time this winter when the track was approaching its best condition, rain fell and again turned it muddy. Today it was so sticky that trainers could do little work with their horses and the "dogs" were put up early so as to give it a chance to dry out without being cut up. Every time that it has been rained upon, the track has shown some improvement when it dried out and it is expected that by Wednesday, the first stake day of the week, it will be fast.

Two $1,500 stakes will be run this week. The Spartansburg Handicap, six furlongs, for three-year-olds, will attract a field of the best horses of that age here, while the St. Valentine's Day Handicap, one mile and a quarter, which will be decided Saturday, will be contested by an excellent field of stayers. The running of these two stakes will leave to be run only three of the twenty-three originally scheduled.

Trainer S. J. Nathanson has made liberal provisions for the two-year-olds this week and the juvenile races are now filling so well that they are getting to be among the best features of the sport. The showing of Emerson Cochran in the Calhoun Selling Stakes, the first half mile race of the year for the juveniles, bears out the opinion of many turfmen that he is one of the best two-year-olds at the course and that he was so late in earning brackets was due to bad racing luck in his two previous starts. There is only one more closed event left for the two-year-olds, the Pine Forest Inn Stakes, to be run on February 18.

The halter race again became active last week after a temporary let-up and run-ups were numerous. Two horses changed hands by being bid up. Effendi, which Grover C. Baker let go to H. G. Bodwell for $600, and Feather Duster, which J. W. Hedrick secured for $1,100, were the only horses of the week being forced to give up more than half the value of a stake race which Pardon won in order to protect him. Bodwell did well in the matter of windings during the week and now is well above the $12,000 mark. The J. O. Talbot stable is second with a little more than $9,000 and the Breverlyck stable is third. Jockey Johnny McTaggart is increasing his lead over the other riders each week and there is no doubt but that he will stand first at the end of the meeting.

Owners who have won $1,000 or more follow: H. C. Bodwell, $1,550; J. O. Talbot, $9,000; H. G. Bodwell, $2,600; J. L. Holland, $5,810; A. Weber, $5,235; R. F. Carman, $4,765; W. A. J. JOYNER AND HIS ACHIEVEMENTS.

American race courses lost their best "rooter" when Andrew Jackson Joyner moved over to Ballston Lodge, Newmarket, to train the English string that bears the colors of Harry Payne Whitney. Never was there a more devoted and faithful "rooter" for a few seasons back. A quiet, unassuming man in the paddock, he was wont to stroll out to the infield when he sent one to the post. He would never take his eyes from his horse until the post was reached, and no jockey worked harder to bring him home a winner than his big trainer. It was the joy of winning that spurred him. The joy that only a big, red-blooded sportsman can feel. It meant more than a purse to Joyner. It was a shout of encouragement to a good horse and there was a battle ring in the call.

In staid old England Joyner has learned to curb his rooting bit, but it has been said of him that once in a while he forgets that he is wearing riding breeches and the English atmosphere of calm that goes with them. When he does, his hat goes high in the air and out comes a shout that is so well remembered about the New York course, when he was sending winner after winner to the post for Sydney Paget.

Racing can never grow old for Joyner. He will always have that same enthusiasm and he experiences the same fierce joy in the battle now that he did away back in his boyhood, when he was an apprentice under William Wyche, who in his day was one of the old timers of importance. Joyner learned in a good school and his has been a lifetime of rare usefulness in his chosen field. Before he had reached manhood he was a practical horseman, but he always had those inborn characteristics that can never be acquired—an inherent love for the thoroughbred and that indefinable bond of fellowship with the dumb beast that made them both understand one another.

After serving a long apprenticeship with William Wyche, the young southerner, in 1878, branched out for himself with the mare Annie G. She was a three-year-old in 1878 and that was the year that Joyner did the bushes of both Carolinas with her. He had one year of this and Annie G., under his handling, became one of the most famous of the horses that raced at country fairs—then attracting a much better class of horses for the reason that there were fewer big track opportunities.

BRILLIANT CAREER OF A GREAT AMERICAN RACE HORSE IN ENGLISH RACING.

No thoroughbred of recent years has made a greater impression in our racing than did the splendid Whisk Broom II, last year. It is a matter of real regret that an accident disabled him and enforced his retirement from racing to the stud, else he would have been sure to supplement his striking succession of triumphs in the Metropolitan, Brooklyn and Suburban handicaps, with other displays of the superb speed and ability to carry great weight that so endeared him to the race-going public of New York in his short but excessively brilliant career in this country.

The major portion of his racing was done in England, where, for several years, he ranked with the best horses in training. It was his misfortune there to be the same age as the superior horses Lemberg and Neil Gow, a circumstance that prevented him from having his name enrolled in the list of winners of the Two Thousand Guineas. There, when a two-year-old in 1909, he started in five races, of which he won one and was second in two. His first start was in the Holiday Stakes at Sandown Park, in which he ran unplaced to Mount Felix, Blue Blazes and the Cylone—The Gorgon Billy. His next start was in the $5,000 Duke of York Plate at York, August 24. This he won by two lengths from Galatine, Woolcombe and seven more good two-year-olds. Then he ran unplaced to Neil Gow, Admiral Hawke and Lemberg in the Champagne Stakes at Doncaster and could have been third had not "Skeets" Martin eased him up when it was certain he could not win. In the Middle Park Plate at Newmarket, sometimes called "The Two-Year-Old Derby," he ran a great race and was only beaten a neck by Lemberg, with Admiral Hawke third and five more unplaced. His last race that year was for the Dewhurst Plate at seven-eighths of a mile, and, with only the two starting, Lemberg beat him easily. Good as he was, both Lemberg and Neil Gow were better and so they continued when three-year-olds in 1910.

That year Whisk Broom II, began by running second to Neil Gow for the Craven Stakes at the Newmarket Craven meeting over the Rowley Mile. Neil Gow beat him easily, but he beat the exceedingly speedy Tressady for second place, three others starting. His next start was in the Two Thousand Guineas April 27, and at the end of a memorable struggle Neil Gow won by a head from Lemberg, with Whisk Broom II, a good third, two lengths back, such good ones as Admiral Hawke, Tressady, Rochester and Bronzino being in the unplaced division. Such form spoke for itself, so when he made his appearance in the Trial Stakes over the Hunt Cup Course on the first day of the Ascot meeting he went to the post a 1 to 3 favorite and won in a canter, with the famous Dean Swift second and Yellow Slave third. Then he ran unplaced in the rich Hardwicke Stakes at a mile and a half, Lord Derby's great colt Swynford winning, with Marjux second and Sanctuary third. He carried fourteen pounds more than Swynford, which subsequently won the Doncaster St. Leger of that year, with the Derby winner, Lemberg, third. Next in the Knowsley Dinner Stakes of a mile and a quarter at Liverpool, he gave the famous colt Wiltonix four pounds and ran him to a head. Mr. Belmont's Merry Task finishing third. At the Newmarket Second October meeting he easily defeated Dean Swift and St. Crispin in the Select Stakes, but found the winning of the Cambridgeshire too much for him, although he went to the post a 3 to 1 favorite in a field of twenty-one horses. He carried 110 pounds and finished fourth to Christmas Daisy, 114, Mustapha, 118 and Halcyn, 109. That terminated his career as a three-year-old and a proved good one he was.

As a four-year-old Whisk Broom II, started in five races and won two. He began the year by running unplaced to Spanish Prince, a horse of grand speed, Orphish and Golden Rod in the Victoria Cup at Hurst Park. He carried 117 pounds to 112 on Spanish Prince, 101 on Orphish and 119 on Golden Rod. This race took place April 29. His next start was at Manchester June 10 in the Salford Borough Handicap at three-quarters of a mile. He carried 123 pounds. The Irish colt Great Surprise, with 101 pounds up, was an odds-on favorite, being gifted with phenomenal speed at short distances, but Whisk Broom II, made an example of him and won in a canter by a length and a half. Grey Spinner third and such other fast ones as Golden Rod, Fernamor, Mint Master, Kerry and Wolf's Haven unplaced. June 27, at the Newmarket First July meeting, he carried 126 pounds in the Duke of Cambridge Handicap at a mile and was beaten a head by the fast three-year-old Danneburn, 123 pounds. Sandal, 96 pounds, was third. Such celebrities as The Story, Smirgita, Succor, Enduros, Blamond Stud, Haydon and St. Felicien being among those unplaced. Of these Enduros was afterwards sent to Australia and won important races there. Whisk Broom II, then ran unplaced in the $50,000 Eclipse Stakes at Sandown Park, Swynford winning, with Lemberg second and Pictorial third. His last race of the year was in the Peveril of the Peak Plate at Derby September 8, distance a mile. In this the starters were Whisk Broom II, 126 pounds; Sunspot, 122; Mustapha, 122; Ayshire—Chelys colt, 92; Avenus, 102; My Collier, 107; Enduros, 108; Hamerton, 101; Master Bill, 87; Sobieski, 99; Minter, 92 and Humorist 89. Mustapha was the favorite at 3 to 1, while it was 4 to 1 against Whisk Broom II, and 5 to 1 against Sunspot, but in a great race and finish Whisk Broom II, won from Sunspot by a neck, with Mustapha a good third. This was a fine race won from high-class opposition.

The year 1912 was his last year of racing in England. The good horse had grown in the estimation of the official handicappers until he was always heavily weighted and had to face the stiffest sort of opposition, but nevertheless did not fail to acquit himself nobly. His first start was in the $15,000 Great Jubilee Handicap of a mile and a quarter at Kempton Park May 11. In this he ran second, with 125 pounds up and, in doing so, defeated such stars at Mustapha, Donalhorpe, Sir Martin, Horner's Beauty, Lonawand and Pictorial, among others, but Rachel's Hope, which afterwards proved a high-class horse, had been let in at two pounds and easily took the race. May 28, with 128 pounds up and ridden by D. Maher, he won the Victoria Cup at Hurst Park, Prince San, 104 pounds, finishing second and Eton Boy, 111 pounds, third. Spanish Prince had beaten him in this event the year previous, but Whisk Broom II, took ample revenge on this occasion, Spanish Prince, 127 pounds, being in the also ran division along with Great Surprise, Uncle Pat, Braxted and other fast ones. For the Royal Hunt Cup at Ascot, one of the hardest races to win in England, he was given the steady impost of 133 pounds and, getting away badly and interceded with, had to change, but ran the best race of any of the twenty-eight horses starting and finished sixth. Another great horse, Long Set, with 130 pounds up, had better luck and finished second, but the race fell to the four-year-old Eton Boy, 108 pounds, his success meaning the pulling off of a great betting coup. This race was run June 19 and Whisk Broom II, did not run again until October 4 at the Newmarket First October meeting, when he was sent to the post for the Swallow Stakes and, finding no opposition, had a walkover. At the Newmarket Second October meeting, with each carrying 132 pounds, he engaged in a tremendous duel with Long Set in the Select Stakes at a mile and was beaten a short head by the French-bred crack, one of the best horses of recent years in England. His last race of the year and his last in England, was in the Cambridgeshire Handicap. The track was about as bad as it could be and, having up 139 pounds, his chance was held to be so forlorn that he was at 3 to 1 in the betting, but finished fourth or fifth, there was considerable controversy over the point, and was beaten but little over two lengths, the race falling to another American-bred in Adam Bede, which carried 110 pounds. The French mare, La Boheme, 108 pounds, was second, with Dragoon, 100 pounds, third.

The revival of racing in New York last year led Mr. Whitney to bring home a contingent from his stable in England and Whisk Broom II, was one of them. His brief, but glorious career last year has been so frequently described in Daily Racing Form as to need no recapitulation here. Suffice it to say that he only started in the three races named and won them all. The record and pedigree of this great son of Broomstick and Audiance are as follows:

For four years, beginning in 1879, Joyner was associated with that veteran of the turf W. P. Burch, who is now one of the stewards of the present race meeting of the Charleston Fair and Racing Association. He was foreman in the stable and not a little of its success was due to his skill in the fitting of the horses. He accepted his first engagement as a trainer on his own hook. In 1883 he signed a contract with Davis & Hall and he remained with that notable racing firm until it was finally dissolved in 1899, when he again branched out for himself. This venture was much more pretentious than his "basin whacking" with Annie G. There were more tracks of importance and he had a string that would take odds of none of them. One of his best horses at that time was Chesapeake, with whom he was winner of many a good race. His skill with his own horses resulted in several owners of importance inducing him to open a public training stable, and among others that he had in his charge were the horses of August Belmont and J. E. McDonald. Finally the demands of Mr. Belmont on his services were so insistent that he was engaged to train the Belmont horses alone. This engagement was not terminated until 1895, and during its life it was particularly successful. The Belmont silks being first in forty races for the last year of the contract, a wonderfully good record for those days of racing. One of the marked successes that attended Joyner in his early years on the turf came with his handling of Oriflamme. James Rowe, considering that the horse had broken down so badly that to train him would be useless, presented him to T. B. Davis for stud purposes. Joyner was to take the horse to the Davis stud, but when he reached Washington, D. C., with his charge, he found that he had about recovered from his lameness. He induced Mr. Davis to permit him to train him for another season and in seventeen starts this

STAKES FOR ED HOWARD

JEFFERSON LIVINGSTON'S COLORS BORNE TO VICTORY IN JUAREZ FEATURE.

Two-Year-Old Son of Cesarion and Line of Life Beats James Butler's Superhuman, but Latter Is Poorly Ridden.

El Paso, Tex., February 8.—An attractive card was provided at Juarez today by Secretary Jasper for the large crowd that went over the border. The chief racing feature was the running of the Yucatan Stakes for two-year-old colts and geldings. The day was balmy and springlike and the racing up to the high standard that the Jockey Club Juarez has been giving its patrons right along.

Jefferson Livingston won the stake race with Ed Howard, one of his entries. Ed Howard's stable companion, Tod Cook, met with interference at the start and failed to place. James Butler had two carded to go, but scratched Apple, leaving Superhuman to carry his colors. Superhuman was not ridden to the best advantage, as Jockey Taylor applied his whip altogether too freely on the colt. He hustled him away quickly and never let up on whipping. Naturally the colt weakened under the grueling punishment near the finish.

Jockey Ford, on the other hand, rode Ed Howard well. He waited with him until the final eighth and then his mount responded, with the result that Superhuman was beaten a length.

Only one favorite, and that at odds-on, succeeded in scoring. The finishes all were close.

PROGRESS AT HOT SPRINGS.

Movement for Revival of Racing at Arkansas Resort Likely to Be Successful.

Hot Springs, Ark., February 8.—It was announced today by the committee who have been activating the movement to revive racing as one of the attractions at this resort that arrangements are progressing satisfactorily for the twenty-one days meeting which it is proposed to conduct at the Oaklawn track, beginning on March 17. A week or so ago a delegation of Hot Springs business men waited on Louis A. Cella in St. Louis. He is the principal owner of Oaklawn, one of the most elaborate of American race courses. Mr. Cella agreed to let the Hot Springs folks run a spring and fall meeting after they assured him that they would be able to operate and that at the next session of the Legislature they would go to the front and try and have a racing bill passed. Mr. Cella's only proviso was that $20,000 be raised and placed in the bank to guarantee payment of all bills should the spring meeting be run at a loss. Some $15,000 has been raised and Mr. Cella was informed by long-distance telephone yesterday that the committee was some $7,000 under his figure and that it doubted if it could raise any additional money.

A. B. Gaines, of Englewood, N. J., president of the Arlington and Eastman Hotel Companies, was the biggest contributor. His donation was $2,500. The committee asked Mr. Cella if he would accept $15,000 for a two-week meeting instead of a proposed thirty days' meeting. He stated he would make known his answer yesterday, and last night it was semi-officially announced that the St. Louis turfman had accepted the proposition and the twenty-one days' meeting would go on, starting on March 17.

John Hachmeister, general manager of the Lantonia and Douglas Park tracks, is expected to be placed in charge of the Spa's meeting.

A. J. JOYNER AND HIS ACHIEVEMENTS.

good horse was only unplaced on one occasion. Joyner did not pick spots for his cripple. He sent him after the best of them and took them into camp.

Later Joyner is found training the strings of thoroughbreds that were raced by David Gideon, W. A. Chandler and H. P. Belmont. It was while in the employ of H. P. Belmont that he developed Ethelbert into one of the greatest horses of his day. This same Ethelbert later achieved high honors as a stock horse when he sent such a good one to the races as Fitz Herbert, which, by the way, began his racing career under the racing silks of Mr. Joyner. Ethelbert came in a good year, for the peerless Imp was racing in 1900 and Jack Point and Kinley Mack were also of the same time. As a four-year-old Ethelbert was at the top of his form and his wonderful performances over a distance of ground made brilliant turf history.

Shortly after this came Joyner's engagement with Sydney Paget and with James B. Haggin, at that time the most extensive breeder of thoroughbreds in the world. For many seasons Joyner had the biggest string of horses that were handled by any one trainer. The lad who had gone "hush-whacking" with Annie G. had grown marvelously in importance. He was the most sought after conditioner of horses in the country and the same measure of success perched on his banner as when with his one mare he was taking down purses in the Carolinas about the country fairs.

He still raced horses of his own, so that the Joyner establishment was of gigantic proportions. It was in those years that he saddled Waterbury in all of his great races. It was he who sent Hamburg Belle to the post for her memorable victory of 1902. He developed Charles Edward, one of the fastest horses of his day, and Charles Elwood, another of the Haggin breed, was a notable winner.

It was in 1905 that the Paget string had grown to such proportions that the Haggin horses were turned over to Charles Littlefield, and Joyner still had the eight that he had won for himself. Then in 1906, August Belmont supplanted John J. Hyland with Joyner as his trainer. His stable was a big one and some of them went to John Whalen, but Joyner was given the pick of the string. That year he had fourteen for Belmont and a like number for Paget, while he still had a small string of his own.

During this service he had Fair Play and Priscillian in his care. Had it not been that Fair Play came the same year as that unbeaten champion Collin he would have been one of the greatest of American horses. His was a tough row to hoe, but he got through his two and three-year-old seasons second only to the Keene champion.

Joyner left the American turf with flying colors in 1908 when he sent seventy-one winners to the post. At that time he was handling the horses of Harry Payne Whitney, his present employer, August Belmont and some that bore his own silks, his notable winners being Hessian and Fitz Herbert, which as a matter of fact was sold by him early in his two-year-old form.

It was in 1909 that Mr. Whitney entered upon his invasion of the English courses and Joyner was put in charge. He made it a purely American stable and when he moved his household goods to Ballston Lodge, New York, he took his full force with him, including a Chinese cook. There he fairly took the Englishmen off their feet with his elaborate establishment. But he was the same Joyner who many years before had raced Annie G. His success had come from his natural ability and his hard work and even though he took with him a large retinue he at no time dodged his own labors.

The Whitney stable abroad has always been a big one, and he also handled the good filly Mediant for Herman R. Duray. This is the filly that was winner of the Stewards' Cup and other good races in 1909. He developed Miss Brown H, which came back to this country to win the Metropolitan, Brooklyn and Suburban Handicaps last year, and though his season just closed was not as successful as some of the others, the Whitney silks earned almost $50,000 during the racing year.

Joyner is back in New York for a holiday. He is the same old heart, wholesome old "Jack" that he always has been, even though he has been engaged to take over some thoroughbreds for the Earl of Lonsdale, in addition to the big Whitney string he has in his care.—Turf.
